ANOTHER YOU!

Dr. Isaac O. Fayomi

GREETINGS FRIENDS,

Society today has influenced our insight, our believe, our real culture and our value. We have left the reality of who we are and who we ought to be, to embrace a beggarly and mediocre life. We have lost the way to discover and refine our person to a personality to emulate. The few who are fortunate to get it right, ride on others to win more.

Many people have resolved to live in anxiety of what tomorrow will be; that is the uncertainty. Some people who want to try are fearful of failure. We want sudden success, yet never want to pass through the process that successful entities walk through. We want to be known, but we never want to know how to crack the nut.

Instead of challenging our inner mind for our real person to come alive, we lost boldness, courage, confidence, and focus which are real attributes to winning ways.

People tell us about our incapability, unworthiness, inexperience, etc. and so many negative nuggets on our path. You take these negative nuggets because you have no choice as you think. You attend a job interview and someone tells you, you are a graduate but no experience. Oh sorry! We need experience entity! The employers have forgotten that 80% of organisation's trusted hands get their experiences on the job.

Folks, don't worry! There are times in life that you will need to face some tests. The good news is this: every of your questions have their answers in another you. It is good to know that nobody will ever believe in you, until your "another you" begins to command attention. Nobody will give you chance, until you begin to create those choices that no one can change.

Friends, as a young man growing up, I discovered and traded in three factor chain cases that I called "C-Chains of Champion". This chain has taken me beyond my imagination and brought on my way honour without measure. This chain is called change, choice and chance factor.

CHANGE-CHOICE-CHANCE

Change is the first factor that any champion must embrace. Change in this context means change on your person and approach. Friends, you want to win? You can't win when you have not changed your self-doubt, self-relevance and self-condemnation. Self doubt because you have never believed in your capacity and ability. You never believe a new year can emerge. You doubt every of your actions and steps; you create shadow of inferiority around your life. This cannot bring another you to be seen.

You need to leave certain ideology that enslaves greatness. I was in Rwanda waiting to board a flight and a lady brought out a book titled In Pursuit of a Fulfilling Future, after reading the first two chapters she said "I have used my attitude to miss many opportunities"

With self-relevance, many thought they've known all after small honor. They lose sight of the future plans and purpose. They are carried away by applause of men. You create relevance to name and title to yourself. Many have stopped learning and stopped seeing another you in them.

Friends, there are also persons who are victims of self condemnation; they talk less of their less access to opportunities, privileges, and throw away the believe that they could win in life. Folks, "until your inner change to things, you cannot see another you"

Therefore, another you brings the desired change in your life and that gives you the opportunities to make choices of what you have been unable to do, and make you go places you couldn't have gone to and meet people you dream of seeing. Folks, good choices come our way when our change comes.

After little challenges and opportunities, people thought they've seen it all and never want to try anymore. Another you makes you try and re-try in the face of awkward challenge. Friends, you are not where you are because you want to be; you are where you are because you are challenged! No one wishes to be sick, so is a challenge. No one wishes to be poor; no one wishes to be mad; no student wishes to fail; no lady wishes never to have a companion.

Another you is the answer to every challenge! Societal influence might have caused you instability in your marriage, business fallout, academic backwardness, career dropdown, regression in relationship; all you need is another you to get back.

Until you find another you, you will still remain the old you. You will still be the old self that looks for jobs in every street; the old you that at thirty still depends on your parents to eat. The old you that is still confused at 40 to find someone to get married to.

Hear this, friends! Life evolves and it does so with time. No one dwell in the past and passes the test of the past. It is time to look without fear into the future with another you giving you confidence. You need a discovery of another you to market your present worth! A man met me some time ago and brought a product and said, "Oh! This is a new product." I asked him the difference between the old and the new products. He said, "Re-brand." I laughed! The world is changing and people cannot continue to live in their old selves; they will be out of market. Friends, it is time to leave the old self and rebrand into another you. Re-think your thinking, step out from that limitation, and focus on the future.

Gloria bought some cassava flakes “garri” garnished with coconut, well packaged and labelled in a plastic. The usual one I know was the road side one. She said, “Honey try this you will like it.” When I tasted it, it was great and better than the usual stuff. She said they have shifted the cassava flakes into another levels. Good friends, another discovery of you, makes you to be better than usual. Another you are not a function of places, culture, location, colour. It is a function of personal discovery.

A friend in the U.S. called me months ago and said that it seemed certificate is no longer working as expected. I laughed and told him, “Your certificate becomes old, the moment you graduated. It is the competence gained through training and conferences attended, that create another you.

Many of your mates may not have the privilege to be where you are, not because you are better than them but because you have worked upon what you have, bringing out another you. Beloved, only a few work on what they have; many stay with what they have.

To get another you, work on your old self! Work on your old approach, work on your old insight, work on your mentality. There is a you in you that needs to be renewed for another you to be seen

When you have another you, you can see far, think far, and live beyond the challenges on your path. Looking for a job will be far from being a challenge; winning life without stress will be a daily adventure. Achieving extraordinary thing on record will be a norm!

I discovered at twenty, that I needed the another me to be innovative, creative, do what was needful, act when it is required not as convenient, and see what others don't see. It is obvious that you have to stop looking down on yourself, stop seeing yourself as a failure, and starts seeing picture of another you winning all occasion around your life. Another you will want to go extra miles to achieve more and that is why you need to appreciate that you are a rare gift.

Know that another you is unimaginable, unshaken, resilient, and unstoppable. Every new you, requires extra input of everything in our hands. Life is not an entertainment; life is an entrustment. Your another you requires a new dimension of hard work. Another you will give you a dream plan, which is a product of dream drive.

No matter how pointless people thought you are, start investing in everything called you and get another refined you for a successful life. Someone said, there is no elevator to success, which is true. It is evaluating “You” to obtain another you that creates the success we see.

Folks, you need a creative you to achieve great things and you can't be creative and remain in old self. Don't be selfish to yourself, be selfless! Be selfless to work on every pointless attribute. Be selfless to turn your trash into treasure.

Don't be lost in thought; work on your selfish thought to gain another selfless you! Don't build your wall around old ways, get new ways, get new you to make life profiting for you.

Another you need to react against inability. I was trying to put up a structure in a particular location that is very expensive. A half a plot costed more than a million naira. So, I decided to call a designer and an architect to get me a plan of how I could make a good use of the land. The designer said I couldn't get such concepts; it was discouraging from all analysis. Right there, I refused to be discouraged. I put on my creative vision and in the mid night, I woke up and sketched a design to the builder.

A sketch transformed to a design that people within the locality began to request. You are not what people think you are, you are far from being what you thought. You are far from being a failure, you are far from being a loser. Another you is incomparable, and not competitive in nature! Another you is multifaceted and multidimensional.

You are adaptable! You can change the way you live your life; you can change the way you think, you can win the way situation is confronting you. Another you should be fully prepared for eventuality, step out to win challenge on your part. Never be disturbed or perturbed. Therefore, regardless of all you've been through, you deserve the best and your best is in another you taking full responsibility. Make no mistake, be defining in your approach, and be open to learning! You can break the barrier by working on your conviction that there is a better you; and with this, you can move closer to your place of rest.

You don't need to worry; all you need is to create a better value for yourself through self-discovery. Challenges are like a shadow; you can't run away from it. Challenge your challenger and be the champion you are.
